4. If a Contracting Party has accorded special advantages to nationals or persons of any third State by virtue of agreements establishing customs unions, economic unions or similar institutions, or on the basis of interim agreements leading to such unions or institutions, that Contracting Party shall not be obliged to accord such advantages to nationals or persons of the other Contracting Party.

5. If the provisions of law of either Contracting Party or obligations under international law existing at present or established hereafter between the Contracting Parties in addition to the present Agreement contain a regulation, whether general or specific, entitling investments by nationals or persons of the other Contracting Party to a treatment more favourable than is provided for by the present Agreement, such regulation shall to the extent that it is more favourable prevail over the present Agreement.

Article 3.

The Contracting Parties shall guarantee the transfer of payments related to an investment. The transfers shall be made in a freely convertible currency, without undue restriction and delay. Such transfers include in particular though not exclusively:

- (b) The measures are not discriminatory or contrary to any specific undertaking which the former Contracting Party may have given;
- (c) The measures are accompanied by the provision for the payment of just compensation. Such compensation shall represent the genuine value of the investments affected immediately before the date the measures or impending measures became public knowledge and shall, in order to be effective for the claimants, be paid and made transferable, without undue delay, to the country designated by the claimants concerned and in the currency of the country of which the claimants are nationals or persons or in any freely convertible currency accepted by the claimants.

Article 5.

Nationals or persons of the one Contracting Party who suffer losses in respect of their investments in the territory of the other Contracting Party owing to war or other armed conflict, revolution, a state of national emergency, revolt, insurrection or riot shall be accorded by the latter Contracting Party treatment, as regards restitution, indemnification, compensation or other settlement, no less favourable than that which that Contracting Party accords to its own nationals or persons or to nationals or persons of any third State, whichever is more favourable to the nationals or persons concerned.

Article 6.

If the investments of a national or person of the one Contracting Party are insured against non-commercial risks under a system established by law, any subrogation of the insurer or re-insurer into the rights of the said national or person pursuant to the terms of such insurance shall be recognised by the other Contracting Party.

Article 7.

With respect to taxes, fees, charges and to fiscal deductions and exemptions, each Contracting Party shall accord to nationals or persons of the other Contracting Party who are engaged in any economic activity in its territory, a fair and equitable treatment which shall in any case not be less favourable than that accorded to nationals or persons of any third

State. For this purpose, however, there shall not be taken into account any special fiscal advantages accorded by that Party under an agreement for the avoidance of double taxation, by virtue of its participation in a customs union, economic union or similar institution, or on the basis of reciprocity with a third State.

Article 8.

1. Any dispute between the Contracting Parties concerning the interpretation or application of the present Agreement shall as far as possible be settled by means of diplomatic negotiations.
2. Any dispute between either Contracting Party and a national or person of the other Contracting Party concerning an investment of that national or person in the territory of the former Contracting Party shall as far as possible be settled in an amicable way.
3. If a dispute as meant in paragraph (1) or (2) cannot be settled within a reasonable lapse of time, it shall, unless the parties to the dispute have otherwise agreed be submitted, at the request of either party to the dispute, to an arbitral tribunal, composed of three members. Each party to the dispute shall appoint one arbitrator and the two arbitrators thus appointed shall together appoint a third arbitrator as their chairman who is not a national of either Contracting Party.
4. If one of the parties to the dispute fails to appoint its arbitrator and has not proceeded to do so within two months after an invitation from the other party to make such appointment, the latter party to the dispute may invite the President of the International Court of Justice to make the necessary appointment.
5. If the two arbitrators are unable to reach agreement, in the two months following their appointment, on the choice of the third arbitrator, either party to the dispute may invite the President of the International Court of Justice to make the necessary appointment.
6. If, in the cases provided for in the fourth and fifth paragraphs of this Article, the President of the International Court of Justice is prevented from discharging the said function or is a national of either Contracting Party, the Vice-President shall be invited to make the necessary appointments. 7. The tribunal shall decide on the basis of respect for the law. Before the tribunal decides, it may at any stage of the proceedings propose to the parties that the dispute be settled amicably. The foregoing provisions shall not prejudice the power of the tribunal to decide the dispute ex aequo et bono if the parties so agree.
8. Unless the parties decide otherwise, the tribunal shall determine its own procedure.
9. The tribunal shall reach its decision by a majority of votes. Such decision shall be final and binding on the parties to the dispute.

Article 9.

The provisions of this Agreement shall, from the date of entry into force thereof, also apply to investments which have been made before that date.

Article 10.

In respect of any matter governed by the present Agreement nothing in this Agreement shall prevent a national or person of the one Contracting Party from benefiting from any right more favourable to him and accorded by the other Contracting Party.

Article 11.

Article 12.
