- (a) the first situation is direct expropriation, where an investment as referred to in subparagraph 1 (b) of Article 1 (Scope) is nationalised or otherwise directly expropriated through formal transfer of title or outright seizure; and
- (b) the second situation is where a measure or series of related measures by a Party has an effect equivalent to direct expropriation without formal transfer of title or outright seizure.

3. The determination of whether a measure or series of related measures by a Party, in a specific fact situation, constitutes an expropriation of the type referred to in subparagraph 2(b) of this Article requires a case-by-case, fact-based inquiry that considers, among other factors:

- (a) the economic impact of the government measure, although the fact that a measure or series of related measures by a Party has an adverse effect on the economic value of an investment, standing alone, does not establish that such an expropriation has occurred;
- (b) whether the government measure breaches the governments prior binding written commitment to the investor whether by contract, licence or other legal document; and
- (c) the character of the government measure, including its objectives and whether the measure is disproportionate to the public purpose.

9. Non-discriminatory regulatory measures by a Party or measures and awards by judicial bodies of a Party that are designed and applied in pursuit of public policy to achieve legitimate public interest or public welfare objectives, such as the protection of public health, safety, and the environment, do not constitute expropriation of the type referred to in subparagraph 2(b) of this Article.

(8) The Parties understand that there may be legal and administrative processes that need to be observed before payment can be made.

(9) In the case of the Philippines, the time when or immediately before the expropriation was publicly announced refers to the date of filing of the Petition for Expropriation.

(10) For Cambodia, Malaysia, Myanmar, Philippines, Thailand and Viet Nam, in the event of delay, the rate and payment of interest of compensation for expropriation of investments of investors of another Party shall be determined in accordance with their laws, regulations and policies provided that such laws, regulations and policies are applied on a non-discriminatory basis.

3. In any proceeding involving an investment dispute, a Party shall not assert, as a defence, counter-claim, right of set-off or otherwise, that the investor or the investment as referred to in subparagraph 1 (b) of Article 1 (Scope) has received or will receive, pursuant to an insurance or guarantee contract, indemnification or other compensation for all or part of any alleged loss.
