At the time of signing the Treaty of Commerce, Establishment and Navigation between the United Kingdom of Great Britain and Northern Ireland and Japan (hereinafter referred to as "the Treaty"), the undersigned Plenipotentiaries, duly authorised thereto, have agreed as follows:

(1) If the Government of either Contracting Party find that any product of the territory of the other Contracting Party is being imported into the territory of the former Contracting Party in such increased quantities and under such conditions as to cause or threaten serious injury to producers in the territory of that former Contracting Party of like or directly competitive products, that Government, in case they wish to take action under the present Protocol to prevent or remedy such injury, shall give to the Government of the other Contracting Party notice to this effect with a full explanation of the circumstances, and the two Governments shall enter into consultation, not later than seven days after such notice is given, with a view to finding a mutually acceptable solution.

(2) If no mutually acceptable solution is found within thirty days after the consultation has begun, the Government of the importing Contracting Party may take action to prevent or remedy the injury referred to in paragraph (1) above, notwithstanding the provisions of Article 17 of the Treaty, provided that such action: (a) shall not be taken lightly;

(b) shall be limited, so far as administratively practicable, to the specific products in respect of which it is necessary and shall not be more severe than is needed to remedy the injury caused or threatened; and

(c) shall be discontinued immediately either when a mutually acceptable solution is found or when the situation which gave rise to the action is rectified.

(3) In critical circumstances where delay would cause damage which it would be difficult to repair, action under paragraph (2) above may be taken provisionally within thirty days after the consultation has begun, on the condition that such consultation shall be continued in an endeavour to find a mutually acceptable solution.

(4) If the Government of either Contracting Party take action under the provisions of paragraph (2) or paragraph (3) above, the Government of the other Contracting Party may take counteraction substantially equivalent in scope and duration, notwithstanding the provisions of Article 17 of the Treaty, provided that such counteraction shall not be taken or shall be discontinued, as the case may be, if and to the extent that the Government of the former Contracting Party take measures having the effect of compensating for their initial action. In witness whereof the respective Plenipotentiaries have signed the present Protocol and have affixed thereto their seals.
