Protocol

In the act of signing the Agreement between the Government of the Republic of Peru and the Government of the Republic of Argentina on the Promotion and Reciprocal Protection of Investments, the undersigned have further agreed to the following provisions, which constitute an integral part of this Agreement:

Ad. Article 1, Paragraph (2), (c)

The Contracting Party in whose territory investments take place may request proof of control invoked by investors of the other Contracting Party. Any of the following facts, among others, may be considered as evidence of control:

- (i) a percentage of direct or indirect shareholding in the capital of a legal person which permits effective control, such as, in particular, a shareholding of more than half;
- (ii) direct or indirect holding of a such number of votes as makes it possible to exercise a determining position in corporate bodies or to influence decisively the functioning of the legal person.

Ad. Article 3

The provisions of paragraph (1) of this Article shall also not be interpreted as extending to investors of the other Contracting Party the benefit of any treatment, preference or privilege resulting from the bilateral agreements providing concessional financing, signed between the Argentine Republic and Italy on 10 December 1987 and with Spain on 3 June 1988.

Ad. Article 8

As far as the Argentine Republic is concerned, the provisions of this Convention shall not apply to investments made by natural persons who are nationals of the other Contracting Party, if such persons, at the date of the investment, have been domiciled for more than two years in the Argentine Republic, unless it is proved that the investment was admitted to its territory from abroad.
